VOLUME XLIII

Published by the SENIOR CLASS

KENDALLVILLE HIGH SCHOOL

KENDALLVILLE, INDIANA

Foreword

This is the K. H. S. story as we lived it during 1954-55. From the time these doors opened on a new school year in September until they closed in May, we students, regardless of our individual classes, worked to blend together scattered events into a cyclorama of activity.

We became a part of the scholastic life of K. H. S. as we studied. We kept notebooks, handed in papers, read books, wrote term papers, and crammed for tests. Most important, we learned to think and reason as we completed our various assignments.

All knowledge, however, does not come from books and classrooms. We assumed responsibility and learned to work with others as we became a part of the extra-curricular life of K. H. S. We presented musical and dramatic programs, actively participated in sports, attended conferences and contests, and worked in the activities of the organized clubs. We also helped govern our school by taking part in Student Forum and Board of Control.

We entered into the social life of K. H. S. We enjoyed not only the parties, the dances, and the banquets, but also the more casual get-togethers at ball games and in the study halls before and after school.

All of these things have gone into the K. H. S. story. Here we have attempted to express in words and pictures these varied happenings and the people who made these events memorable.

Superintendent

Mr. L. S. Brumbaugh, as superintendent, administers school affairs, employs our teachers, and supervises the care of the buildings. He has worked with the School Board in planning for the new elementary school. Mr. Brumbaugh has given generously of his time and friendliness to all of us during our years in K. H. S.

Principals

Mr. R. W. Tritch, principal of the senior high school, makes out each individual's schedule, checks to see if he has the necessary requirements for graduation, and gives assistance whenever anyone calls on him, in addition to performing his other administrator's duties.

Mr. Frank J. Schwab, principal of the junior high school, aids students greatly when they are in junior high. It is difficult getting acquainted with new surroundings and adjusting to new situations, but with Mr. Schwab's help it becomes easier.

School Board

The School Board consists of Mrs. Ruth Mary Friend, treasurer; Mr. Oren Coney, president; and Mr. Merritt Diggins, secretary. This year it was primarily interested in the construction of the new elementary school building. Mr. Brumbaugh works closely with the group.

Secretaries

Mrs. Arlene Kurtz has given us much time and patience taking care of our class and activity finances, selling supplies, and acting as secretary for Mr. Brumbaugh.

This is Mrs. Adele Ruderman's first year with us and we all agree she has been very efficient. As secretary for Mr. Tritch, she signs our admits and brings us messages.

Board of Control

The Board of Control is a policy-making body consisting of the junior and senior class presidents, one boy and one girl chosen by the students, Mr. Tritch, and four teachers appointed by Mr. Tritch. Members, as they are seated around the table, are Dennis Butterbaugh, Ray Scott, Miss Power, Miss Stephens, Mr. Tritch, Karen Leighty, Mr. Schwab, Mr. Guymon, and Jim May.

Student Forum

The Student Forum, a student-teacher organization which discusses student problems and makes recommendations to the Board of Control, is composed of sixteen students and two advisers. The classes elect their respective Forum members who, in turn, elect the advisers. The members in the picture include Mrs. Black, Diana Johnson, Janice Schuman, Linda Bostwick, Mr. Howerton, Linda Lee, David Tritch, Judy Jacobs, Caryl Schwarz, Rosemary Steckley, Ruby Barger, Mearl Hawkins, Duane Hanes, Jack Bell, and Neil McManus. Harold Riehm, Jerry Svoboda, and Ronnie Vaughn are not in the picture.

Senior History

As the time approaches when we will leave K. H. S., we look back on a period of growing, not only in knowledge gained from books and studies, but also in understanding of our many teachers and classmates as well.

As eighth graders, we were in the high school building for the first time, little noticed, and very insignificant among the many older students, and constantly becoming lost at every turn in the maze of halls. Our class officers were John Moses, president; Jesse Coil, vice-president; Ruby Barger, secretary; and Tom Jones, treasurer.

As freshmen we began to feel more a part of the school. Miss Eminger was our able sponsor and this year we elected Jim May, president; Dianne Ihrie, vice-president; Carol Ewell, secretary; and Rae Pray, treasurer. Bill Heign and Clarinda Robinson represented our class on the Student Forum. This was the year we worked hard to put on an enjoyable program for our parents, and we took "grown-up" subjects for the first time.

The following year we entered the ranks of sophomores and moved to the big study hall. We ordered class sweaters, gray with white letters outlined in blue, and they certainly did get a lot of wear. With Mr. Metz as sponsor, we elected class officers: Duane Axel, president; Bill Heign, vice-president; Ruby Barger, secretary; and Carol Eshelman, treasurer. Rae Pray, Tom Jones, and Lynn Leibing were chosen to be on the Student Forum.

Our junior year, the most important and busiest yet, came into full swing when we elected officers: Terry Kurtz, president; Jim May, vice-president; Nelda Berkes, secretary; and Carol Eshelman, treasurer. Judy Jacobs, Ray Scott, and Rae Pray were our Student Forum representatives. Magazine sales were launched and each student set out selling, determined to break all previous records, and that we did when we sold over $3,000 in magazine subscriptions. Rachel Brennan was high salesman with $400. Then came the exciting days when our class rings arrived and we displayed them with pride. Later that year, we began preparing for the Junior-Senior Banquet, our chance to entertain the seniors. The theme we decided on was "Evening in Paris," and for weeks we prepared for it secretly. Our decorations included murals of Notre Dame and a street in Paris. Book stalls were placed along the wall, and the windows were decorated definitely French style, with bars, flowers, and bright awnings. A huge painting of the Eiffel Tower was on the stage, along with French flower stalls, bicycles, and more colorful flowers which completed the setting. Favors for the girls were charms filled with Evening in Paris perfume, and gold initials were given to the boys. Our lovely Paris setting could never have become a reality without the untiring patience and aid of our sponsor, Miss Power.

Then with eagerness, we began our senior year by electing class officers: Ray Scott, president; Craig Miller, vice-president; Nelda Berkes, secretary; Carol Eshelman, treasurer; and Judy Jacobs, Duane Hanes, and Ruby Barger, Student Forum representatives. Miss Goodwin was our sponsor through the senior year.

We became Indians for our class party, "A Redskin Social." We all wore something red and a feather in our hair. Almost before we knew it, we were in a whirlwind, trading senior pictures and name cards and ordering announcements. Then with the realization that the year was almost over, we tried to crowd many things into our school life in order not to waste any of the precious time left.

And finally came the very inspiring and impressive Baccalaureate followed by Commencement, the fulfillment of a long awaited dream, but as each one of us received his diploma, we became a little afraid, yet eager to find what the future held for us.

And so now we leave K. H. S. with its now very familiar halls and classrooms, and say good-bye to the fine faculty members, who have guided us so many times, and students who have become our dearest friends. How can we ever forget the thrills and heartaches, joys and sorrows in these years of growing.

We shall think of you often, K. H. S., for these have been wonderful years and we shall always cherish them.

Student Government Day

In order to acquaint senior members of the civics classes with the local type of government, various students, selected by the classes, assumed the responsibility of city administration the morning of October 21, 1954. This was the first year in which students from the high school have taken part in a Student Government Day, and all who participated recognized it as an extremely worthwhile experience.

Juniors

The juniors elected the following officers at their first class meeting this year: Dennis Butterbaugh, president; Dave Hedges, vice-president; Barbara Hoffelder, secretary; and Jo Price, treasurer. They also chose Neil McManus, Harold Riehm, and Linda Lee to represent them on the Student Forum. This year they were proud to have a junior girl, Karen Leighty, elected to the Board of Control. Two other members of the class, Rhea Roderick and Sharon Shoultz, were chosen as varsity basketball cheerleaders.

As their first big project of the year the juniors launched the annual magazine sales campaign. Jo Price and Neil McManus were the generals, while the captains of the three teams were Harold Riehm, Karen Leighty, and Larry Blue. Harold's team was the proud winner and enjoyed a theatre party, given by the Curtis Publishing Company, December 2. This year it was a contest not only to see which team would win but also to see which were the better salesmen — boys or girls. The girls won, and on Junior Courtesy Day the boys were quite the gentlemen — carrying books, bowing to the girls in the halls, and opening doors for them. The juniors sold $2,822.45 worth of magazine subscriptions and were very proud of Leeanne Coney, the high salesman, who sold $212.97.

For the fall class party November 6, the class went by bus to the Coliseum in Fort Wayne to see a hockey game.

December 21 was quite a day for the juniors since it was on this day that their long-awaited class rings arrived; the excitement was easily apparent as the juniors spent several days showing off their new rings.

After many hours of hard work and planning, they climaxed their junior activities by entertaining the seniors and faculty at the annual junior-senior banquet May 6.

The class of 1956 had a very successful junior year under the direction of their very able sponsor, Miss Power, and look forward to an even more successful year as seniors.

Sophomores

John Tritch was elected president when the sophomores, under the direction of Mr. Metz, the class sponsor, held their first class meeting last fall. Suzy Febles was elected vice-president; Judy Shank, secretary; and Roger Wible, treasurer. At the same meeting Diana Johnson, Jerry Svoboda, and Janice Schuman were chosen to represent the sophomores on the Student Forum.

The sophomores scheduled their first class party of the year for the night of December 10. The theme of the party, mainly a dance, was "Snowball." The gym was very beautifully decorated with silver and white streamers meeting at the center, from which a balloon covered with artificial snow was hung. The stage decorations presented a winter country scene with a Christmas tree covered with artificial snow, a star to one side, and a large moon in the background. A musical talent show, a broom dance, and a shoe dance were the main attractions of the party.

The class sponsored the after-game dance January 14. A triangular sign hanging at the door indicated the guests were about to enter "Hernando's Hideaway." The words were repeated in large letters on the back wall of the stage. In nightclub fashion, tables covered with pink and black crepe paper and centered with candles, coke bottles, and glasses were placed on the stage and along the sides of the room, thus leaving the center free for dancing.

Balloons cascaded from the center of the ceiling, which was created with pink and black streamers. As added attractions, a cake walk contest was held and the girls' trio, composed of Carol Eshelman, Judy Jacobs, and Ann Foor, sang "Hernando's Hideaway."

The sophomore class this year chose rust with white letters and numerals trimmed in brown for their class sweaters. They arrived in November and immediately the sophomores proudly showed them to the rest of the student body.

Television shows on Channel "58" were presented for the Freshmen-Parent Night program by 127 freshmen under the direction of their sponsor, Miss Eminger. Robert Fordeck as Groucho Marx and James Richards as George Fennamin starred in "You Bet Your Life." The contestants were Sue Dickey and Tom Forbes, Marilyn Dornmeyer and Edward Weber, and Lola Sizemore and Paul VanWagner.

Gregg Reidenbach emceed the "Masquerade Party" following the Health Parade, a clever commercial composed of members of the class. The panel consisted of Judy Gustin, Carson Gould, Mitzi Coffelt, and Dennis Gerber. The contestants included Ed Kenestruck, the spelling champion; Judy Thompson, blue ribbon winner at State Fair; and Jerry Brown, member of the Order of the Arrow. Judy Thompson, president of the freshmen, introduced the other officers: Jerry Brown, vice-president; Jean Brown, secretary; and Louise Fisher, treasurer; and Jack Bell, Linda Bostwick, and Ronnie Vaughn, Student Forum members.

Jack Lewis, a mystery contestant dressed as Ashes, advertised "Cinderella of Loreland," a mock performance of which was then given by

Arthur Godfrey, portrayed by Ken Swogger with Richard Forst as his announcer, televised the "Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts." Carol Kammerer introduced the Girls' Chorus, who sang "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "If I Could Tell You." The band, introduced by Judy Feller, played "Hernando's Hideaway." Janice Holden presented Sandra Huff, a tap dancer. Jack Fifer and John Evers, introduced by Tom Hornett, did a record pantomime, "I'm Yourn."

After the program, punch and cookies were served by the Home Economics III class under the direction of Miss Scott.

The freshmen class successfully carried out the theme "Red Hot Party" for their class party. On December 3, they sponsored the after-game dance, carrying everyone off in a "Space Swirl."

The class chose red and white for their colors and "Early to bed, early to rise, the freshmen of '54 will be a surprise" for their motto.

GRADEN'S RECAPING SERVICE

Health Program

The Kendallville public school is proud of its fine health program under the efficient direction of Mrs. Stella Mallon, school nurse, who keeps careful record of a student's growth, hearing, and vision and daily handles first aid problems. She also assists the health program in the St. John's Lutheran School.

The school cooperates with the local dentists and doctors to carry on three annual programs: dental inspection for every student and diphtheria inoculations and small-pox vaccinations for freshmen and seniors.

The Noble County Tuberculosis Association offers free patch tests to seniors and freshmen. Almost every year they offer free chest X-rays to all students 16 years of age or older.

The pictures show Mrs. Mallon giving a hearing test, checking vision, and giving a patch test. Dental inspection is shown in the lower picture.

Students at Work

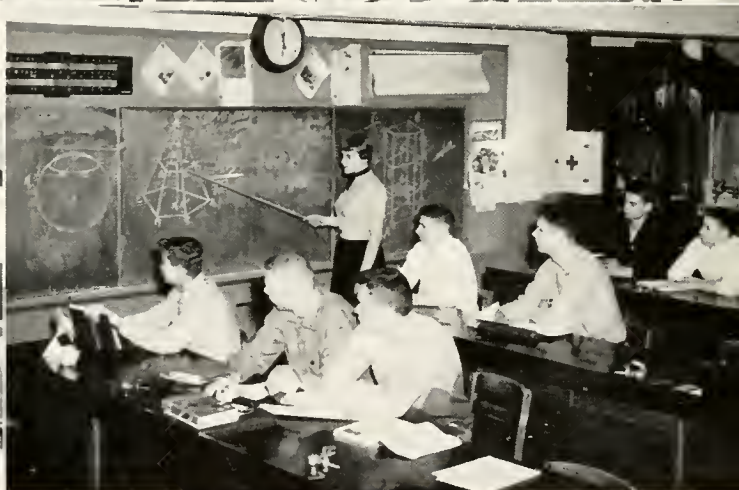

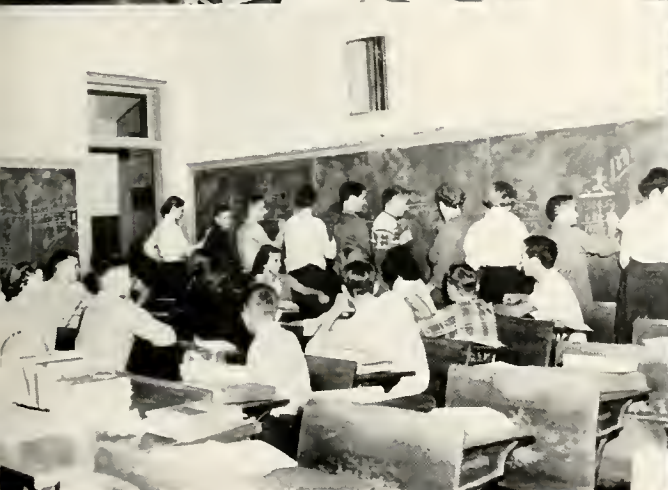

Kendallville High School is accredited by the Indiana State Department of Public Instruction as a first-class commissioned high school. It stands for high scholastic achievement and a broad general education. The courses are planned to prepare students not only for college entrance but for citizenship in their local community.

This high school has been a member of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools continuously since 1913. The membership is maintained by conforming to the high standards set up for the member schools concerning buildings and equipment, libraries, laboratories, teacher qualifications, courses of study, and a professional approach to the solution of educational problems.

The pictures on these pages show students at work in their classrooms, where they may gain a cultural background, vocational training, an understanding of their social and economic society, and a respect for work.

STECKLEY'S MILL & HATCHERY

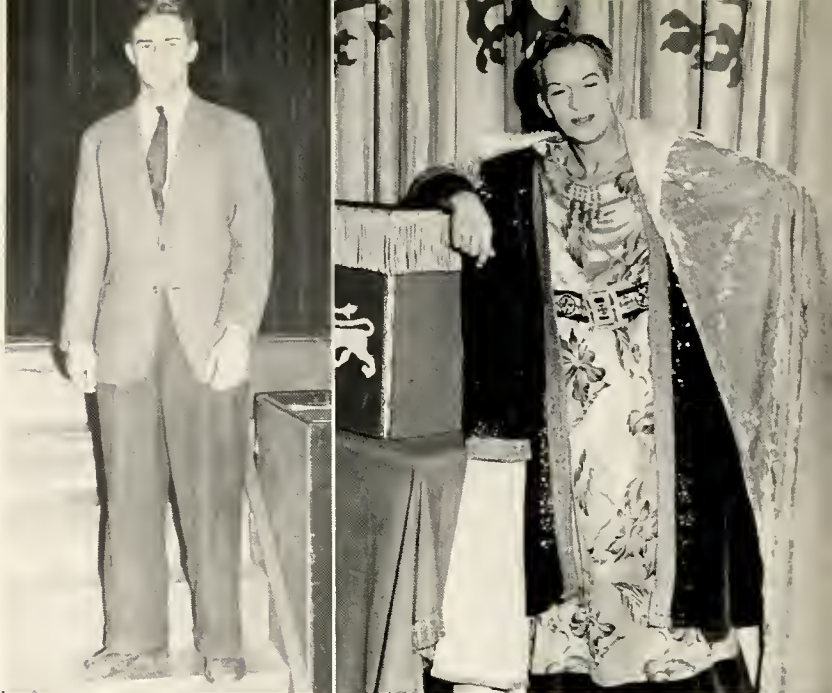

Auditorium

The auditorium programs, presented weekly under the direction of Miss Robertson, were very much enjoyed by all. There were nine paid programs presented by professional talent, and the others were given by our own K. H. S. students.

A television show, given by the Speech class, was the first program of the year. On September 24, all of the students who attended summer conferences told of their varied experiences; and on October 8, others told of the interesting trips they had taken during the summer. So that the students might know more about what goes into the actual presentation of an auditorium program, on October 1, the stage crew reviewed some interesting and educational facts about the auditorium.

The next three programs were paid programs, the first being a folktale puppet show by Basil Melovsoroff. On October 29, Jack Rank and his one man theater again returned to K. H. S., this time to perform Shakespeare's comedy, "The Merchant of Venice." The Bertelle Bird Circus was the program on November 3.

On November 10, the freshmen gave the program which was repeated that evening for their parents at the annual Freshmen-Parent Night.

Programs

A matinee performance of the three-act comedy, "Cinderella of Loreland," was given for the students by the Wig & Paint and Thespian dramatics clubs November 19. "European Travel" was the title of the December 3 program. Miss Stephens presented a travelogue of her trip to Europe last summer, and Peter Roser told some of the customs in his native Switzerland.

On December 10, Jack Dammon, the registrar at Purdue University, spoke on the subject, "How to Make the Most of Your High School Education." The Girls' Chorus and the Boys' Chorus, under the direction of Miss Fenstermacher, presented the annual Christmas music program December 17.

The next four programs were given by the students and were "Musical Techniques and Hit Parade," "Choose a Number," "Information Please," and "Hobby Show."

The students were then delighted with five paid programs: Bogardus, a sculptor; Frederick Sjobiarn, a pianist; the Bajans, gypsy troubadours; Ken Smith, an artist; and Cavalbri, a violinist.

On May 13, National Music Week was commemorated with a music program, and May 20, being Senior Day, the seniors presented the program.

The last auditorium for the year was the annual Awards Day on May 27.

National Thespian

There were two dramatics clubs this year. Thespian Troupe 1106 is a member of the National Thespian Society. The aims of the Society are to create a real interest in dramatic activities among students, to set standards of interest in all of the phases of dramatic arts, to help youth appreciate radio, theater, the motion pictures and television, and to give them a worth-while extra-curricular activity. To become a Thespian, one must have earned points by acting, participating in programs, and working backstage.

Although the club started its year with only 10 members, mid-year initiation brought the total up to 24. Following the plan recommended by National Thespian, the service was very impressive. After each candidate showed, in some way, his understanding of at least one of the phases of dramatic arts, he found his place behind the table of dramatic flames and there took his pledge of membership.

A new plan was put into effect this year, with the Thespians acting as the officers, committee chairmen, and advisers of Wig & Paint. Separate meetings were held, in which the Thespians made plans for regular meetings, social affairs, and major productions.

One of the main events to come out of the planning sessions was the three-act play, "Cinderella of Loreland." It was a great honor to have Leon Miller, executive secretary-treasurer of National Thespian and editor of "Dramatics" magazine, in the audience for the final performance. His words of praise will long be remembered by the cast. Our well-equipped auditorium impressed him and he was pleased that the public appreciates our plays enough that they are given three and four times. He emphasized how much Miss Robertson has done for the school and said of her, "To him who holds fast to his ideals come realization and recognition."

At one basketball game the Thespians conducted the sale of popcorn and they also sponsored one of the after-game dances. The theme was "Ring In the New," and was carried out by the use of New Year's symbols, such as streamers and the baby New Year.

Thespians of 1953-54 bought a beautiful display case and placed it in the hall beside the auditorium ticket box in memory of Edith Patricia Milnar. It holds the Thespian charter and posters of coming events, and also serves as a storage cabinet for supplies.

As a member of National Thespian, Troupe 1106 was eligible to attend the National Conference at Indiana University last summer. At this conference Tom Lewis, Marcia Ruderman, Joyce Watson, and Ann Stoeckley received their initiation on the I. U. stage. Sharon Shoultz was selected to appear in the Talent Show and also on television. Several of the Thespians planned to attend the Regional Conference at Indianapolis March 26, 1955.

All in all, Troupe 1106 tried hard, working through Wig & Paint and in private meetings, to live up to the aims and motto of the National Thespian Society, "Act well your part; there all the honor lies."

Wig & Paint, the larger of the two K. H. S. dramatics clubs, with the membership before mid-year initiation totaling sixty, was reorganized this year with the Thespians serving as officers and committee chairmen. Any freshman or upperclassman who is interested in dramatics may try out for Wig & Paint if he can meet the scholastic requirements. Students who have earned four points toward Thespian membership and can meet the scholastic standards may become a member of Wig & Paint without a formal try out regardless of the class in which he is enrolled.

The first meeting of the year was open to all high-school students for the purpose of explaining the new system of organization and the requirements for entrance. In addition, those who had attended the Thespian conference gave reports of their experiences.

An initiation was held at the second meeting of the year. There, each candidate performed a stunt or a characterization for which he was judged by the Thespians. At mid-year initiation, the candidates were supposedly put under a spell by a hypnotist, obeying his command at all times. He directed them through a series of special numbers and various stunts, thus demonstrating their individual abilities. Following this, 17 were accepted for membership.

Soon after club meetings began, work was started on the big fall production, "Cinderella of Loreland." Several members had acting parts, while the others helped with scenery, costumes, prompting, properties, and ticket selling. Two of the meetings were devoted to work on the play, while another was cancelled entirely so that the members could sell tickets. All of the work paid off, for the play was presented to three full houses and had to be given an extra night to accommodate everyone. An interesting follow-up was an evaluation of the play, in which representatives of the cast, the backstage workers, and the committee chairmen gave their opinions on the success of the play and its good and bad qualities.

The remainder of the meetings were conducted by the members. They covered a wide variety of subjects, from Shakespeare to puppets. But these meetings were not all work and no play; for instance, a very enjoyable Christmas party was held for both members and alumni. The main feature was a one-act play, "A Quiet Christmas," directed by Joyce Watson. After the play, the entire group went on stage where, in the Christmas setting, carols were sung, games were played, and refreshments were served.

By working together, the Wig & Paint members learned the fundamentals of the dramatic arts and tried to earn points toward becoming National Thespians.

Activities

UPPER RIGHT: An enjoyable part of the Christmas party was singing on the stage.

CENTER AND LOWER RIGHT: Several Wig & Paint members were among those working backstage in the auditorium on Fridays. Their work covered a wide variety of duties, such as sweeping and dusting, caring for the costumes and properties, keeping records of the weekly auditorium programs, and arranging scenery and lights for forth-coming productions. Backstage workers shown are Larry Richards, Bob Hons, Carson Grubb, Dave Hedges, Delbert Morr, Michael Morr, Dick Grubb, Ruby Barger, Marietta Mory, Janice Schuman, Norma Gardner, Elizabeth Miller, Rebecca Walter, Marlene Dawson, Sylvia Muesing, Kay Downing, and Suzy Febles.

Kendallville High School Band

This year brought two major changes to the band, a new director and new uniforms. The first opportunity of working with the director, Clyde R. Copeland, came at the Noble County Fair, where the band played three days.

The Marching Band presented between-half shows at the four home football games. It also opened pre-game festivities with salutes to both schools and the playing of the National Anthem. A small pep band accompanied the football team to Howe Military Academy for the last game of the season.

The Marching Band again won first prize in the Marching Band Contest held in connection with the Auburn Street Fair. In October, the band presented a short concert before the opening of the Lions Club Auction. The band opened the concert band season with a concert preceding the annual Halloween Mardi Gras. Another event in which the band participated was a political meeting held in the high school auditorium.

During the basketball season, the band was divided into two sections. These two bands alternated in playing at home ball games. Mr. Copeland inaugurated a new plan for entertainment at games this year. With a different baton twirler performing at each game, the girls presented a twirling solo between halves of the main game. This provided colorful entertainment for the fans and valuable experience for the twirlers.

A large number of band members entered the district solo and ensemble contest held at Fort Wayne in February. Many of the entrants received superior ratings which entitled them to enter the state contest held at Butler University.

The annual spring concert, two children's concerts, and playing for Commencement, as well as marching in the Memorial Day parade rounded out the year's activities.

Band members graduating this year are Ruby Barger, Nelda Berkes, Bob Grubb, Dianne Ihrie, Jim May, Nancy Patterson, Rae Pray, and Marcia Ruderman.

Mr. Copeland, a graduate of Ball State Teachers College, came to K. H. S. last fall as director of instrumental music. He directs both the high school and the junior bands.

Before coming to Kendallville, Mr. Copeland taught at Royerton and Fort Wayne North Side; last year he was a graduate assistant at Ball State Teachers College.

Vocal Music Department

There were two high school choral groups this year under the direction of Miss Marian Fenstermacher, both a girls' and a boys' chorus. Both groups practiced hard in order to present the annual Christmas program, and the girls caroled in the halls of the school and at the homes of shut-ins.

Before the chorus knew it, spring was approaching and the groups were preparing numbers so that K. H. S. could be represented by a choral group in the Northern Indiana School Band, Orchestra, Vocal Association contest. The chorus sang at an auditorium program and also presented a spring concert.

Baccalaureate brought to an end the choral work for the school year.

Hoosier Girls' State and Hoosier Boys' State

Joyce Watson, Nelda Berkes, and Dianne Ihrie were chosen as the 1954 delegates to Hoosier Girls' State. From June 27 to July 4, they met with 782 girls from Indiana on the campus of Indiana University. Here they learned about campaigning for office, the duties of an election board, actual voting procedures, and the functioning of city, county, and state government.

Girls' State was composed of twenty mythical cities and four mythical counties. Every girl was entitled to run for an office and the more vigorous and heated her campaigning, the better were her chances to win. After local officials were chosen in the primary election, campaigning for state offices began between the two parties, the Nationalists and the Federalists. Voting Machines were used for the general election.

Jane Schermerschiem, a Nationalist from Jasper, was elected governor, and Jane Trittschu, a Federalist from Greencastle, was chosen as outstanding citizen. All other offices were won by the Federalists.

Delegates to Hoosier Boys' State, held at the School for the Deaf in Indianapolis from June 12 to 19, were Tom Jones, Terry Kurtz, and Larry Coffel. Here, with 416 boys from all over the state of Indiana, they were taught the fundamental principles of government.

Boys' State was divided into four counties and eight cities. Vigorous campaigning preceded the election, at which time precinct, city, county, and state officers were elected.

Primus Johnson, a negro from Michigan City, was elected to the highest office of Boys' State, that of governor. Hubbard Hougland from Scottsburg was chosen as the outstanding citizen.

Through these interesting and educational experiences at Girls' and Boys' State, each delegate gained a better understanding of Indiana government and the way it functions.

An important part of the school staff and one that seemed often to be taken for granted was the crew of janitors. These included the high school janitors, Clyde Martin, who is the custodian on duty during the evening, and Arnold Miller; Del Longbrake, chief engineer; Buss Lash, assistant engineer; and G. E. Rawson and Morley McKellar, grade school janitors, who helped in the high school building during special events.

The Comet baseball team ended the season last spring with a record of three wins and three losses.

The Comets lost the first game of the season to Bluffton by a 6 to 3 score. Although the game was played May 3, it was played in the snow.

The Comets did no better in the second game May 6, for they were defeated by New Haven 6 to 2.

In the third game, which was played on the Bluffton field May 10, the Comets walked away with an 8 to 0 victory.

Playing at Decatur May 13, the Comets were again victorious as they won 7 to 3.

Playing on their own field May 20, the Comets dropped a close one to the New Haven Bulldogs 5 to 3.

The Comets, playing the Decatur Yellow Jackets for the second time, were again victorious May 24. Keith Marti pitched a one hitter with the final score 6 to 1.

THE TRENTON GARMENT COMPANY

Football

Although it doesn't show on paper, the fans thought that the K.H.S. Comets had a very successful season in winning two out of their seven games. This marked the second year of varsity competition for the Comets since 1925.

The Comets opened their season by being defeated by the Bluffton Tigers 18 to 7. Moses scored the lone touchdown and made the conversion for the Comets' seven points.

The Comets did not have any change in luck in the second game of the season but went down under a 40 to 7 attack by a good Garrett team. Axel ran a kickoff back for the only touchdown, and Moses made the extra point.

In the third game, the Comets ended on the short end of a 34 to 14 score. Warren Central of Indianapolis was a little too much for the Comets. Miller scored the two touchdowns, and Moses made the conversions.

The Comets seemed to catch fire in the Concordia game and won over the Cadets 19 to 13. Moses scored two touchdowns, and Heign scored one. Moses, who had not missed a conversion all year, made only one out of three attempted.

In the fifth game, the Comets played their best game but were defeated 21 to 7 by a rough Auburn team. Heign scored on a pass from Moses, whose conversion was good again.

The Comets could not get rolling as the Nappanee Bulldogs scored a 33 to 6 victory. Miller scored on a pass from Moses.

Although playing on a field of mud and snow, the Comets overcame a Howe Military attack by winning 8 to 6. Axel scored all of the Comets' points, on a safety and a pass.

Good line play and fine coaching were the main factors in making this a successful season for the Comets.

Track

The Comets opened their track season in the spring of 1954 by defeating Butler 75 to 34. Bob Cotner set the pace for the Comets by getting three first places, while Keith Marti was a close second with two firsts.

Scoring only four first places, the Comets were set back by the New Haven Bulldogs 69 to 40 in the second meet. Cotner captured both the high and low hurdles, Dennis Dawson won the mile, and the Comets' mile relay team also took a first.

The Garrett Railroaders topped the Comets in the third meet of the season by a 56 to 53 score. Cotner won both hurdles and the 100 yard dash. The half-mile relay team also won to give the Comets four first places.

The fourth meet marked another loss for the Comets, who came out on the short end of a 57 to 52 score. Cotner again paced both teams by placing first in four events.

The fifth meet was scheduled with Angola and Howe Military but was cancelled because of the weather and could not be played on a later date.

The next encounter for the Comets was the Goshen Relays. Although scoring 20 points, the Comets could get nothing better than fourth place.

In the Kokomo Relays the Comets captured third place by scoring 32½ points. The Comets also placed third in the Sectional at Elkhart.

In the Sectional Cotner broke two track records by getting first in the high hurdles (time, :15.0) and first in the low hurdles (time, :20.9). Cotner then went on to score first place in the Regionals and third place in the State.

The Girls' Athletic Association began the year's activities by playing softball. The second sport was volleyball, which was followed by basketball. The activities during the second semester consisted of basketball, table tennis, and badminton. During the first few weeks the G. A. A.'s were becoming acquainted with their new sponsor, Miss Norma Barth.

The Kendallville girls were invited to a playday at Auburn on November 20. Their spirit was good, but their luck was bad, for they came home having been defeated by teams from Auburn, Garrett, and New Haven. All of the girls enjoyed the day in spite of losing all their games. They were invited to a sports day at New Haven on December 4. The girls did much better this time and they were able to bring home some awards.

The G. A. A. planned a softball playday in the spring, inviting four or five different schools to participate in this event.

In the beginning of the year the girls began thinking of the awards they could earn during the year. At mid-term the girls who already had earned pins were Bonnie Bodenhafer, Marjorie Forker, Bonnie Biddle, and Connie Rhodes. These girls also had their class numerals.

Bonnie Bodenhafer and Marjorie Forker were awarded their G. A. A. K's and they also went to Purdue where they were presented with the state G. A. A. plaque. These awards are shown at the right. Other G. A. A. members hope to receive some of these awards before the end of the school year.

The bottom picture shows a covered bridge at North Manchester, where the G. A. A. attended a playday at Manchester College last year.

THE SPORTSMAN

 When you can fail and never blame your luck

 You will have learned just how to play and live.
